RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS RESOLVES WITH CHIROPRACTIC!

“In the summer of 1992 I began to feel pain and noticed swelling in my right hand as well as both ankles. After a period of time I had a test for Lyme disease, which came back negative.

“My medical doctor then sent me for arthritis testing which came back positive for Rheumatoid Arthritis.

“Not knowing what to do I was advised through a relative to call a chiropractor, Dr. Zembroski. When Dr. Zembroski examined me, he knew exactly what was wrong.

“At that time I began care. Within the first three weeks of care I noticed a great change in my condition. The pain, and especially the inflammation, began to go away!

“Within the next two months most, if not all, of the inflammation in my hand and ankles was gone. I have maintained my health through chiropractic care for the last two and a half years.”
